It's springtime now in Australia, and the newest edition of their Labyrinth Matters newsletter is Spring 2011 Edition

You will be surprised by the many articles in the Australian newsletter of interest to americans.

Read about Robert Ferre's plans for building a labyrinth in Australia and his plans for teaching there too.

LNN Reflections

There's always too much news to fit into the newsletters, so we offer an opportunity for LNN members to share their labyrinth experiences on the LNN Reflections page. We have an amazing variety of articles. The newest addition is a Reflection about the Peace Walk to celebrate the 10th anniversary of 9-11 held on the new labyrinth at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Eugene.

Rainy Weather Labyrinth Walking

Don't stop walking labyrinths just because it's raining. Raincoats and umbrellas can be helpful, but if you prefer to stay indoors where it's warm and dry, there are many options. The labyrinth at the Franciscan Spiritual Center in Milwaukee and the labyrinth at the Shalom Prayer Center in Mt. Angel are open during regular office hours every day. Many other indoor labyrinths are open at specific times. Check the LNN Calendar for labyrinth opportunities.

The calendar is constantly being updated, so check frequently.
