Sunset Labyrinth
by Denny Dyke

New Year Labyrinths

Denny Dyke has welcomed the New Year by creating many new labyrinths on the beach at Bandon, Oregon. He has lots of pictures posted on his facebook page and on his website. Denny's website is now listed with the LNN Member Links. Is your website on our list? <http://www.labyrinthnetworknorthwest.org/resources.html#members>

Denny's first labyrinth of the New Year is currently on the LNN Home Page. It's a new twist on the Baltic Wheel pattern <http://www.labyrinthnetworknorthwest.org/>

Denny's New Labyrinth Video

If you don't live on the coast and have wanted to watch Denny Dyke make labyrinths, here's your chance. This beautiful professional quality video shows a labyrinth being created, walked, and then washed out to sea. The video was created by Mike Fousie, a retired news photographer who became a friend of Denny on the beaches of Bandon. You can find a link to Mike's website as well as a direct link to Denny's video Sacred Journeys in the video section of the LNN Resources page <http://www.labyrinthnetworknorthwest.org/resources.html#video>

Photos from the Labyrinth Gathering in Taos, NM

Message from the Chaplain at Coffee Creek State Prison -- Help needed in Wilsonville

Greetings! Hope this note finds y'all well!

The short story is: I'm looking for someone in Wilsonville who has an extra bedroom or mother-in-law suite that would be willing to share said room or suite with a stranger. Said stranger is the daughter of one of our inmates who is on Hospice. Long Story: The daughter has been here since before Christmas, and is staying mostly in a hotel, and I would like to offer her some home hospitality in Wilsonville. The catch is that the hospitality CANNOT be provided by a CARDED VOLUNTEER. But I know y'all have connections to friends or church members who may be open to the idea. The mother may not be around for too much longer, so the stay will probably not be too much longer as well.

Please let me know!

Many blessings -
